Not an art teacher, but I had a student that all the other teachers were afraid of. They swore up and down he was going to be a school shooter or serial killer or something. He got transferred into my elective class because it was my first year teaching, no one else wanted to deal with him, and they knew I wouldn't protest. Anyway, this kid would ignore directions and scribble in his notebook. He wrote creepy poems and he always drew knives. He was obsessed with knives.

After a few weeks of slowly building a bit of rapport with him, I realized he just enjoyed getting a reaction and shocking people by saying and doing odd stuff. So one day I just sat with him and asked him what was up with all the knife drawings. He admitted that his uncle forges knives as a hobby. I guess his uncle was like a father to him, and he'd design these knives and they'd work on actually creating them together. He brought in some actual pictures and was incredibly proud. He was actually a really funny, really cool kid who just had a tough home life. I hope he ended up alright.

The third edition of this book has been fully updated to cover Rails 5, the latest version of the framework. An entire chapter is devoted to learning Ruby in a fun way using the interactive Ruby console, so you can follow along at home. You'll be an accomplished Ruby programmer in no time. You'll then start using Rails to build a practical working project: a Reddit-like social news application. connecting now with The Rough Guide to Social Media for Beginners Now available in ePub format Youth Digital Health and Online Platforms Martyna Gliniecka, 2024-12-27 Youth Digital Health and Online Platforms focuses on young people's use of the digital platform Reddit for health. Drawing upon dialogism theory, the book explores how young people produce a youth-led discourse of youth digital health different from the adult-led framing represented in youth digital health research policy and service delivery. Peer-led discussions online remain one of the controversial forms of youth digital health associated with negative peer influence or casual teenage talk. This book argues that online peer-led dialogues support young people's agency in health and that young people can benefit from dealing with health issues with peers. The work is based on the digital ethnography of teenagers' subreddits on Reddit and utilises a theoretical framework of dialogism, a linguistic-based theory originated by an early 20th-century Russian philosopher Mikhail Bakhtin. The book introduces the concept of dialogical youth-led youth digital health discourse formed in the peer-led space of Reddit. This youth-led discourse celebrates equality and diversity amongst people, meanings and opinions. It is constructed around three relational elements: socio-material affordances, creative practices and a plurality of youth voices. Reddit's pseudonymous, anti-authoritarian and egalitarian nature supports the emergence of this youth-led discourse. The book can interest scholars and lecturers in childhood and youth studies, Internet studies and youth health studies. Professionals such as policymakers, service designers, deliverers, online safety educators and global youth and health agencies can use evidence-based insights in their work with young people.
