Evidences of Crimes, 2014      Colonial Surveillance Midori Ogasawara, 2026-01-06 In order to compete with Western powers Japan began to rapidly modernize its governing institutions in the process creating a national population registration and identification bureaucracy the Koseki system in 1871 A few decades later when Japan began to extract natural resources from and occupy Northeast China fingerprint identification was introduced to track the movement of local populations Taking a historical and sociological perspective informed by surveillance studies this book shows how biometric identification became a powerful means of policing and racialization of ethnic others in Japan's empire Based on archival research in Japan and China as well as interviews with the Chinese survivors of Japanese occupation Midori Ogasawara explores the transformation of identification techniques from Japan to its colonies and the lasting impacts of colonial surveillance on everyday people Against the historical backdrop of Japan's colonial expansion in the pseudo state of Manchukuo Ogasawara invites readers to delve into the little known genealogy of modern day identification systems and the colonial roots of the troubling and often invisible surveillance technologies that saturate our digital lives today      The Politics of Nanjing

Kitamura Minoru, 2007 The events of December 1937 in Nanjing are long standing causes of contention rooted in political differences of opinion between China and Japan The Chinese view is unified expressed in the 300 000 victims engraved on the memorial walls in Nanjing which bluntly refers to the Chinese opinion and entity of the Great Massacre School Views in Japan range from complete denial to agreement with the Chinese The Japanese government's position of denial fuels the diplomatic clash The Politics of Nanjing takes a centrist position in order to reconstruct historiographically the days leading up to and following the Japanese invasion of the capital and the political aftermath in China Japan relations      The

Transnational Redress Movement for the Victims of Japanese Military Sexual Slavery Pyong Gap Min, Thomas Chung, Sejung Sage Yim, 2020-02-10 This book examines the redress movement for the victims of Japanese military sexual slavery in South Korea Japan and the U S comprehensively The Japanese military forcefully mobilized about 80 000 200 000 Asian women to Japanese military brothels and forced them into sexual slavery during the Asian Pacific War 1932 1945 Korean comfort women are believed to have been the largest group because of Korea's colonial status The redress movement for the victims started in South Korea in the late 1980s The emergence of Korean comfort women to society to tell the truth beginning in 1991 and the discovery of Japanese historical documents proving the responsibility of the Japanese military for establishing and operating military brothels by a Japanese historian in 1992 accelerated the redress movement for the victims The movement has received strong support from UN human rights bodies the U S and other Western countries It has also greatly contributed to raising people's consciousness of sexual violence against women at war However the Japanese government has not made a sincere apology and compensation to the victims to bring justice to the victims      Unit 731:

Laboratory of the Devil, Auschwitz of the East Yang Yan-Jun, Tam Yue-Him, 2018-04-28 This book exposes Unit 731 as being the largest bacterial warfare force in the history of the Second World War Manufacture and the use of biological weapons the entire process of preparation and implementation of germ warfare with the reflection on war and human nature medical and ethical issues is given by the testimony of the veterans of Unit 731 This evidence is provided by the surviving Chinese labourers and the families of the victims The book focuses on five aspects first the inhuman medical crimes of Unit 731 weapons the biological combats and human experiments secondly the war damage and the postwar effects of biological war by Unit 731 brought to China and other Asian countries thirdly the survey and cover up at the Khabarovsk War Crime Trials fourthly the protection status of the site with development status of the exhibition and international exchanges of the Unit 731 Museum fifthly and finally there is a separate chapter discussing Japanese chemical warfare Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, 1988-10 The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier public resource on scientific and technological developments that impact global security Founded by Manhattan Project Scientists the Bulletin's iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world The Nanjing Massacre and the Making of Mediated Trauma Hongtao Li, Shunming Huang, 2021-08-30 Drawing on cultural trauma theory this book investigates how collective memory of the Nanjing Massacre is fashioned in China and how the mass media political power and public praxis jointly shape the politics and culture of memory in contemporary China Allowing for the dimensions of history and different mediating spaces the authors first conduct textual analysis of news reports from traditional media since the event took place revealing that the significance of the Massacre was initially portrayed as a local incident before its construction as a national trauma and finally a collective memory In a study of physical and online memorial spaces including the Memorial Hall commemorative activities on the Internet and new media platforms the book unveils the production and reproduction of trauma narratives as well as how these narratives have been challenged The final part further studies the interactions between media and other institutional settings while exploring issues of global memory and reconciliation in East Asia The title will be an essential read for anyone interested in memory studies media and communication and particularly the collective memory of the Nanjing Massacre Beyond Victor's Justice? The Tokyo War Crimes Trial Revisited Yuki Tanaka, Timothy L.H. McCormack, Gerry Simpson, 2011-06-09 The aim of this new collection of essays is to engage in analysis beyond the familiar victor's justice critiques The editors have drawn on authors from across the world including Australia Japan China France Korea New Zealand and the United Kingdom with expertise in the fields of international humanitarian law international criminal law Japanese studies modern Japanese history and the use of nuclear chemical and biological weapons The diverse backgrounds of the individual authors allow the editors to present essays which provide detailed and original analyses of the Tokyo Trial from legal philosophical and historical perspectives Several of the essays in the collection are based on the authors' extensive archival research in Japan Australia the United States and New Zealand providing rich insights into Japanese societal attitudes towards the Trial biological experimentation by the Japanese Army in China as well as the trial of

Korean prison guards and prosecutions for rape and sexual assault in the post war period Some of the essays deal with particular participants in the Trial examining the role of individual judges and the selection of defendants and the decision not to prosecute the Emperor Other essays analyse the Trial from a legal perspective and address its impact on concepts such as command responsibility conspiracy and war crimes The majority of the essays seek to identify and address some of the forgotten crimes in the Tokyo Trial These include crimes committed in China and Korea particularly the activities of the infamous Unit 731 crimes committed against comfort women and crimes associated with the atomic bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki the conventional firebombing of other Japanese cities and the illicit drug trade in China Finally the collection includes a number of essays which consider the importance of studying the Tokyo Trial and its contemporary relevance These issues include an examination of the way in which academics have written the Trial over the last 60 years and an analysis of some of the lessons that can be drawn for international trials in the future

Making History Richard Cohen,2022-04-19 A supremely entertaining The New Yorker exploration of who gets to record the world s history from Julius Caesar to William Shakespeare to Ken Burns and how their biases influence our understanding about the past There are many stories we can spin about previous ages but which accounts get told And by whom Is there even such a thing as objective history In this witty wise and elegant The Spectator book Richard Cohen reveals how professional historians and other equally significant witnesses such as the writers of the Bible novelists and political propagandists influence what becomes the accepted record Cohen argues for example that some historians are practitioners of Bad History and twist reality to glorify themselves or their country Scholarly lively quotable up to date and fun Hilary Mantel author of the bestselling Thomas Cromwell trilogy Making History investigates the published works and private utterances of our greatest chroniclers to discover the agendas that informed their and our views of the world From the origins of history writing when such an activity itself seemed revolutionary through to television and the digital age Cohen brings captivating figures to vivid light from Thucydides and Tacitus to Voltaire and Gibbon Winston Churchill and Henry Louis Gates Rich in complex truths and surprising anecdotes the result is a revealing exploration of both the aims and art of history making one that will lead us to rethink how we learn about our past and about ourselves
