Communicating Nature Julia B. Corbett, 2006-11-06 A broader and more comprehensive understanding of how we communicate with each other about the natural world and our relationship to it is essential to solving environmental problems How do individuals develop beliefs and ideologies about the environment How do we express those beliefs through communication How are we influenced by the messages of pop culture and social institutions And how does all this communication become part of the larger social fabric of what we know as the environment Communicating Nature explores and explains the multiple levels of everyday communication that come together to form our perceptions of the natural world Author Julia Corbett considers all levels of communication from communication at the individual level to environmental messages transmitted by popular culture to communication generated by social institutions including political and regulatory agencies business and corporations media outlets and educational organizations The book offers a fresh and engaging introductory look at a topic of broad interest and is an important work for students of the environment activists and environmental professionals interested in understanding the cultural context of human nature interactions

Making Sense of Nature Noel Castree, 2013-08-15 We listen to a cacophony of voices instructing us how to think and feel about nature including our own bodies The news media wildlife documentaries science magazines and environmental NGOs are among those clamouring for our attention But are we empowered by all this knowledge or is our dependence on various communities allowing our thoughts sentiments and activities to be unduly governed by others Making Sense of Nature shows that what we call nature is made sense of for us in ways that make it central to social order social change and social dissent

By utilising insights and extended examples from anthropology cultural studies human geography philosophy politics sociology science studies this interdisciplinary text asks whether we can better make sense of nature for ourselves and thus participate more meaningfully in momentous decisions about the future of life human and non human on the planet This book shows how nature can be made sense of without presuming its naturalness The challenge is not so much to rid ourselves of the idea of nature and its collateral concepts such as genes but instead we need to be more alert to how why and with what effects ideas about nature get fashioned and deployed in specific situations Among other things the book deals with science and scientists the mass media and journalists ecotourism literature and cinema environmentalists advertising and big business This innovative text contains numerous case studies and examples from daily life to put theory and subject matter into context as well as study tasks a glossary and suggested further reading The case studies cover a range of topics range from forestry in Canada and Guinea to bestiality in Washington State to how human genetics is reported in Western newspapers to participatory science experiments in the UK Making Sense of Nature will empower readers from a wide range of fields across the social sciences humanities and physical sciences

The Forces of Nature Amédée Guillemin,1873 Nature and Religion in Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson Julia Niehaus,2023-08-29 Seminar paper from the year 2018 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 1 0 University of Duisburg Essen Anglophone Studies course A Survey of American Literature language English abstract The focus of this term paper will be on Walt Whitman s Song of Myself and a selection of Emily Dickinson s poems that suit the research topic The first part of this paper will analyze Whitman s Song of Myself regarding Nature and Religion His view on things in general was unique and forward for his era and so was his language and choice of words This paper is going to illustrate Whitman s beliefs and his relationship with both topics on a deeper level The second part of this paper will concentrate on a selection of Emily Dickinson s poems that relate to Nature and Religion Her style of writing is not as explicit as Whitman s and therefore needs to be broken down more This paper will highlight her exceptional view on nature and religion which was different from the contemporary one The third part will then continue establishing which attitude Dickinson and Whitman represent more specifically in their poetry by pointing out similarities and differences Therefore this part will essentially summarize the results from the previous chapters and strengthen them The last part consists of a conclusion which will be a recap of the examined topic that is nature and religion in Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson Furthermore it will provide an outlook on further research opportunities and things that could not be addressed in this paper yet Overall this paper will argue that Emily Dickinson and Walt Whitman are both influenced by the American Romanticism and not only mirror that in their work but also exceed it It will also establish what their individual perception of nature and religion is
