Illicit Flows and Criminal Things Willem van Schendel,Itty Abraham,2005-11-04 Illicit Flows and Criminal Things offers a new perspective on illegal transnational linkages international relations and the transnational The contributors argue for a nuanced approach that recognizes the difference between organized crime and the thousands of illicit acts that take place across national borders every day They distinguish between the illegal prohibited by law and the illicit socially perceived as unacceptable which are historically changeable and contested Detailed case studies of arms smuggling illegal transnational migration the global diamond trade borderland practices and the transnational consumption of drugs take us to Asia Africa Latin America Europe and North America They allow us to understand how states borders and the language of law enforcement produce criminality and how people and goods which are labeled illegal move across regulatory spaces

Blood Diamonds Greg Campbell,2012-04-03 First discovered in 1930 the diamonds of Sierra Leone have funded one of the most savage rebel campaigns in modern history These blood diamonds are smuggled out of West Africa and sold to legitimate diamond merchants in London Antwerp and New York often with the complicity of the international diamond industry Eventually these very diamonds find their way into the rings and necklaces of brides and spouses the world over Blood Diamonds is the gripping tale of how the diamond smuggling works how the rebel war has effectively destroyed Sierra Leone and its people and how the policies of the diamond industry institutionalized in the 1880s by the De Beers cartel have allowed it to happen Award winning journalist Greg Campbell traces the deadly trail of these diamonds many of which are brought to the world market by fanatical enemies These repercussions of diamond smuggling are felt far beyond the borders of the poor and war ridden country of Sierra Leone and the consequences of overlooking this African tragedy are both shockingly deadly and unquestionably global Updated with a new epilogue

Clarity, Cut, and Culture Susan Falls,2014 Images of diamonds appear everywhere in American culture And everyone who has a diamond has a story to tell about it Our stories about diamonds not only reveal what we do with these tiny stones but also suggest how we create value meaning and identity through our interactions with material culture in general Things become meaningful through our interactions with them but how do people go about making meaning What can we learn from an ethnography about the production of identity creation of kinship and use of diamonds in understanding selves and social relationships By what means do people positioned within a globalized political economy and a compelling universe of advertising interact locally with these tiny polished rocks This book draws on 12 months of fieldwork with diamond consumers in New York City as well as an analysis of the iconic De Beers campaign that promised romance status and glamour to anyone who bought a diamond to show that this thematic pool is just one resource among many that diamond owners draw upon to engage with their own stones The volume highlights the important roles that memory context and circumstance also play in shaping how people interpret and then use objects in making personal worlds It shows that besides operating as subjects in an ad burdened universe consumers are highly creative idiosyncratic and theatrical agents
