Dear Diary,

Today was a grave day. I have been, in a way, lucky - the others were not. Attack on St Cuthbert's church, the place that I worship, the place that I thought I was safe. The only sounds were that of the sea, our church bell and the gulls, but the assault upon us was brutal.

I was tending to the vegetable garden, when I heard the war horns and then I stepped out to see what all the commotion was about and was so appalled at what I saw. My brothers, the monks who I knew and loved as dear friends, were being taken. An image that will never leave me. Can you imagine what that feels like? To lose your family and to see your family being attacked were laughing as they carried out their slaughter. Surely, they are not me.

You might wonder how I survived, well, I managed to recover from my shock. My older brothers were slain and the younger ones led away. I hid in some bushes and the raid had been well organised. There is no longer gold in the church. There is no peace.
